This is a book about the Little Red Schoolhouse.

It is about the fantasies we created and the realities we encountered during our years there.

Some of it is serious; much of it is filled with fun.

In these pages you will find pictures to laugh over and pictures to learn from.

Some reflect things which are a part of you; some let you see familiar faces and scenes as though you had never seen them before.

The unique pleasures of many different moods and many different activities are captured in the pictures.

And all of them should be enjoyed. They are meant primarily for enjoyment.

But move through the pages with us and you will see what we mean.

Let us begin with you

Member of the 1972 Graduating Class

FALL MORNING THROUGH THE LEAVES

The fall sun rises glimmering through the autumn leaves;
Sheafs of green, gold, red, and brown lie mottled upon the ground.

Happier days of green seem distant and forgotten.

Chattering squirrels playing stir up reluctant thoughts.

The dropping leaves of gold and brown

Are like my unfilled dreams.

The portrait of my life has had too many golds and browns.

I only wish I could have had more green.

Tim Onorato

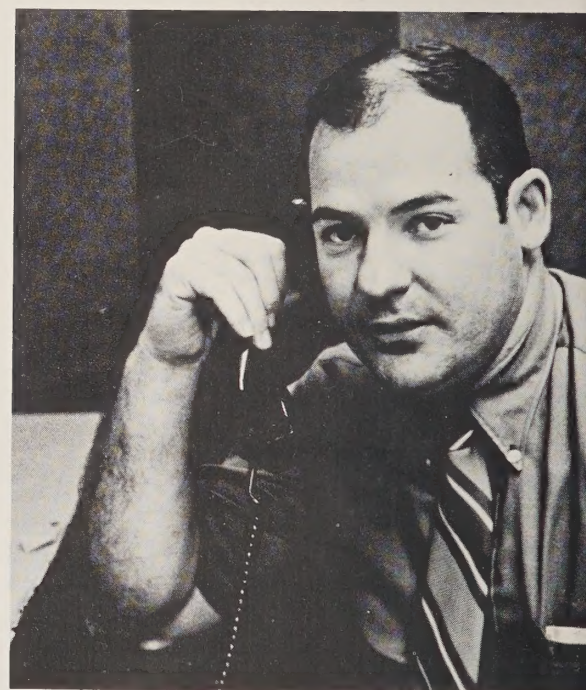

He is a wonderful person who is always ready to devote time and effort to help the students. He is a patient and creative man who does not hesitate to pitch in and help the Junior Class prove their worth to the school. Though he does not talk often, what he does say is well worth hearing. Each student who comes in contact with him reflects his inspiration, influence, and devotion. His guidance has won our respect and his understanding has won our admiration.

For these and so many other reasons, the 1971-72 Lexicon staff proudly and fondly dedicates the 1972 Lexicon to a great teacher and a fabulous person —

Mr. Bobby Pope.

Seniors

In preceding years, the Class of '72 has been dubbed many names. Among these are the "dumb-class" and the "fun-class". This year the Senior class can rightfully be named the "revolutionary class." Past traditions were shed, and new ideas were begun. Whether our new ways of doing things are better, is yet to be seen. At least the Class of '72 was trying, and that is a definite step to the future.

A Great Team . . .

The 1971-72 Lexington Senior High football team was supposed to be one of the weaker teams in the SPC; however, the members of this year's team decided that this prediction was not accurate. Because the team did not have any superstars, they worked together as a team should and compiled a great 7-3 record.

Even the games the Jackets lost were in doubt until the final gun. They had two close defeats at the hands of Kannapolis (10-0) and Salisbury (15-8), but the heartbreaker was lost to Concord, by a score of 31-29. At halftime the Jackets were down 21-0, but with a courageous and inspired effort the team came back to take a 29-28 lead only to have their gallant comeback spoiled at the final gun on a 45-yard field goal. The defeat knocked LSHS out of a share of the SPC championship.

Overall, the season was a typical Jacket season filled with great wins and characterized by team effort. As always, the team had four great coaches who worked long, hard hours to build a team that LSHS can be proud of.

SENIOR LETTERMEN

Student Life

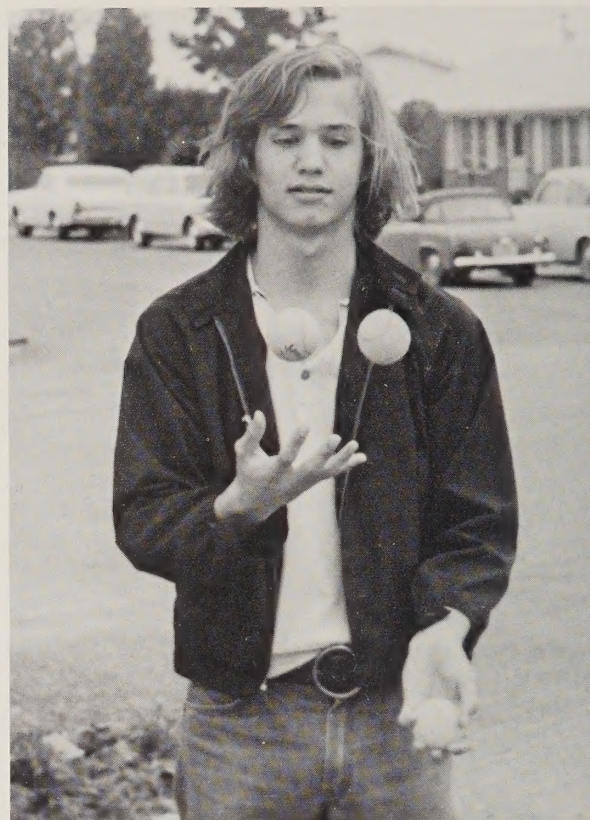

An unusual sight at Lexington Senior High—a hall practically empty. But the scene does not remain deserted long because the STUDENTS of LSHS emerge from their hiding places. Seen in many different occurrences as individuals, pairs, groups, and crowds, here you are, here I am, here we are . . .

TOGETHER!!!

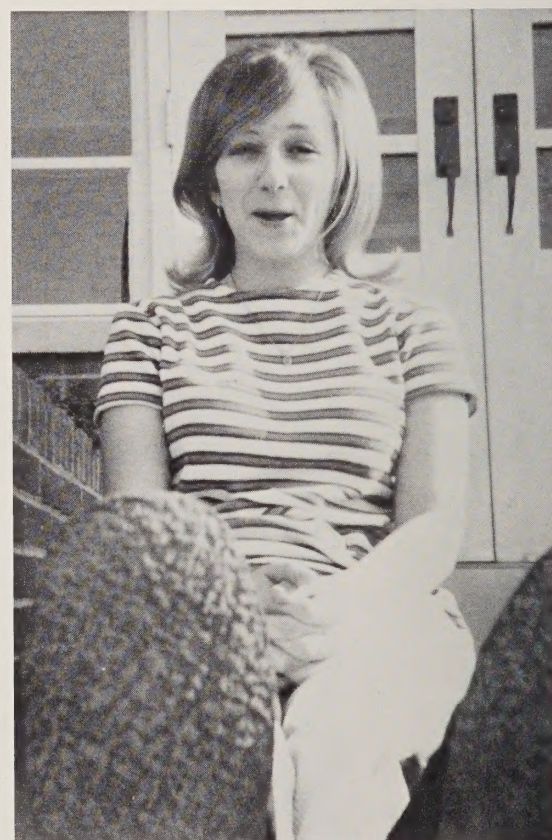

Three LHS seniors distinguished themselves this summer by attending a seven-week study session at North Carolina's Governor's School in Winston Salem. The three students chosen were Bill Davis, Luellen Curry, and Bobbi Smith. Each student took a major area of study. Bill studied in Drama, Bobbi majored in English, and Luellen centered her attentions on Social Science.

Martha Wilson represented LHS this summer at the Tar Heel's Girls' State. She participated in experiments and lectures dealing in government.

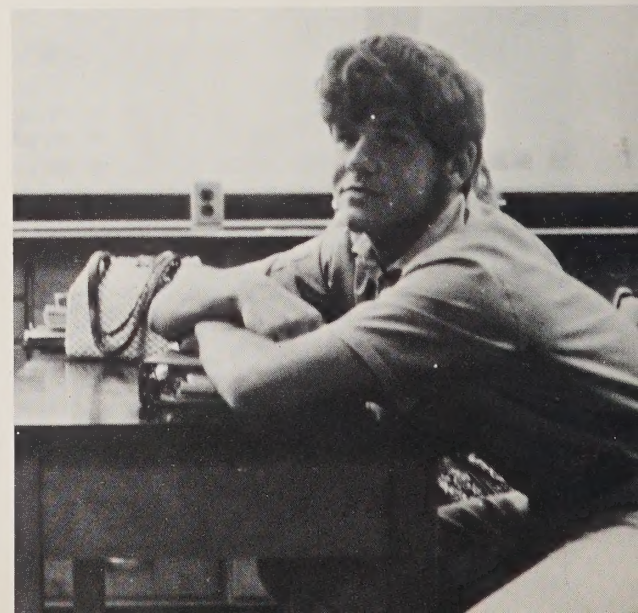

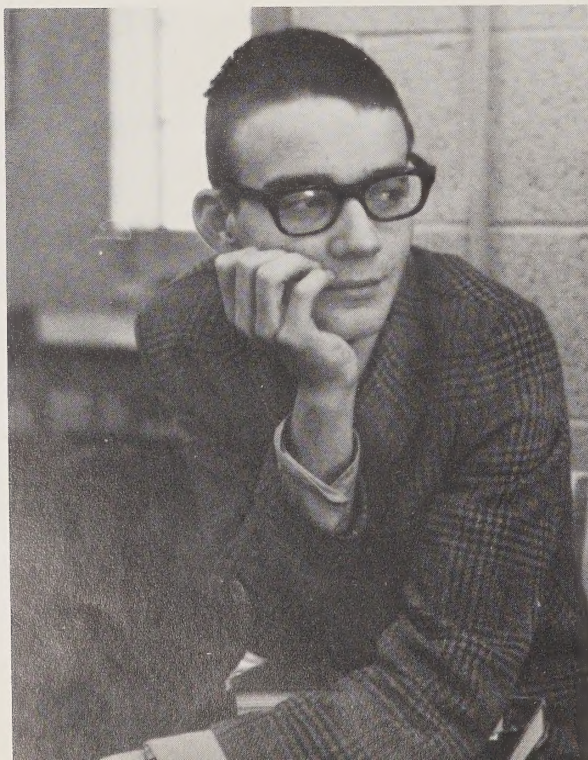

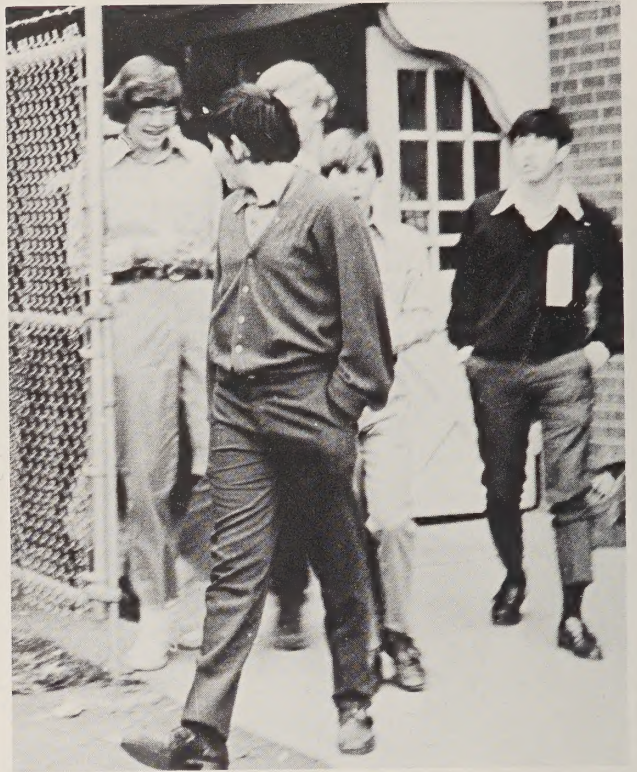

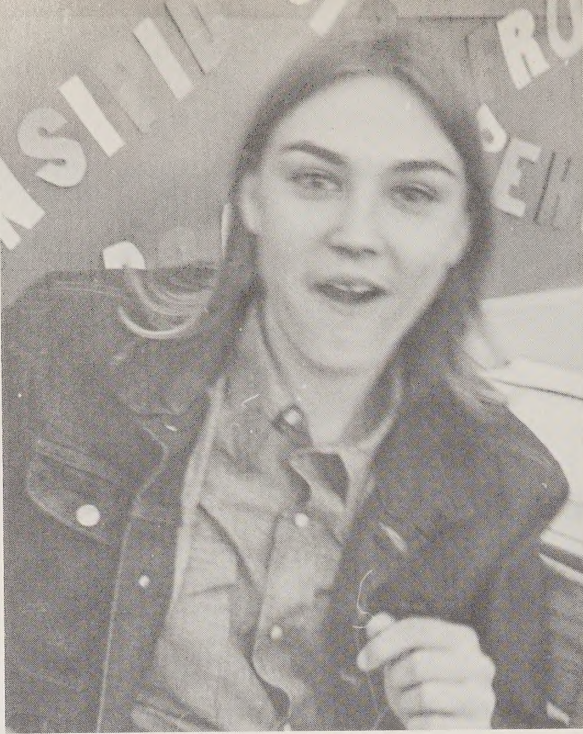

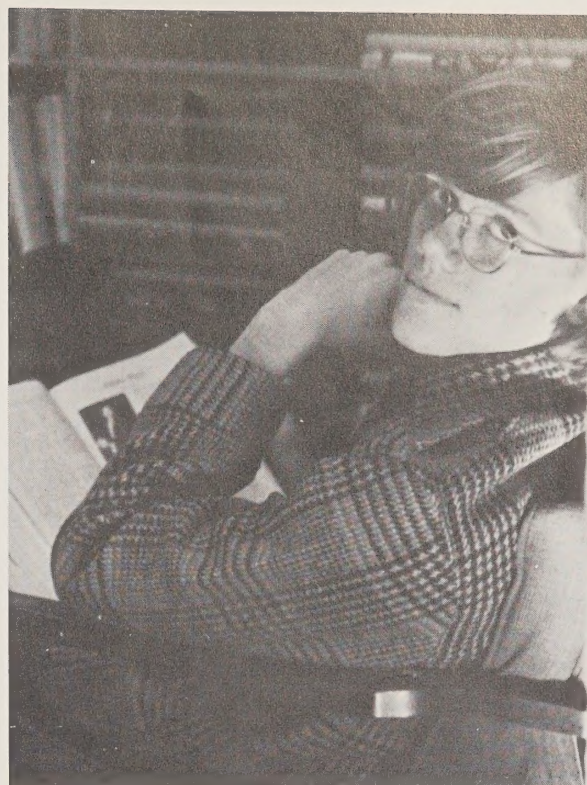

From her first day at LSH, this year's exchange student, Suzy Jaramillo, won the hearts of everyone. Her bubbling personality and constant smile caused every student to love her. Suzy is from Quito, Equador, and speaks both English and Spanish. The Walter Foil Brinkleys are Suzy's Lexington family. Suzy likes riding horses, snow, steak, chocolate, singing and standing in front of the library in the mornings and talking. Suzy's future plans include returning to Equador and attending college. We sincerely hope that Suzy's year in Lexington has meant as much to her as it has to the students and teachers of LHS.

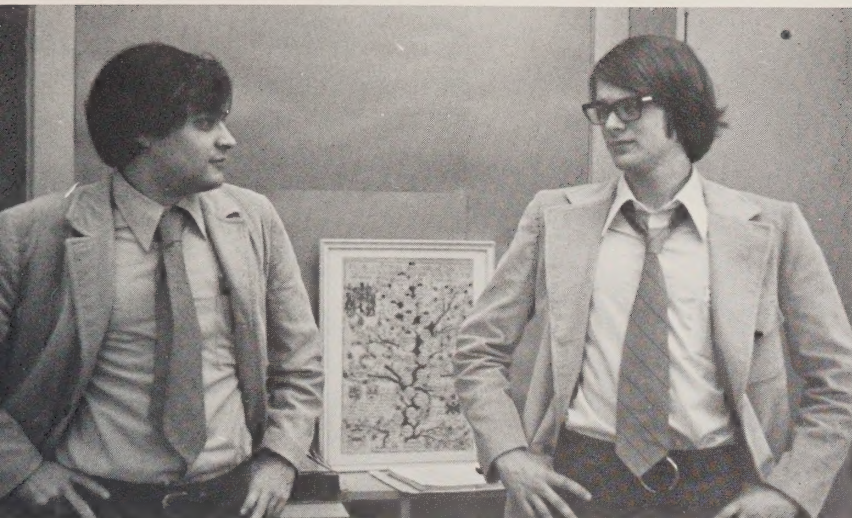

Nancy Leonard was chosen last spring as LHS's representative to the American Field Service. Nancy was lucky enough to spend part of her summer months in Sils, Switzerland. Her family owned a hotel and restaurant, and Nancy learned a lot about the people and the customs of many different lands.

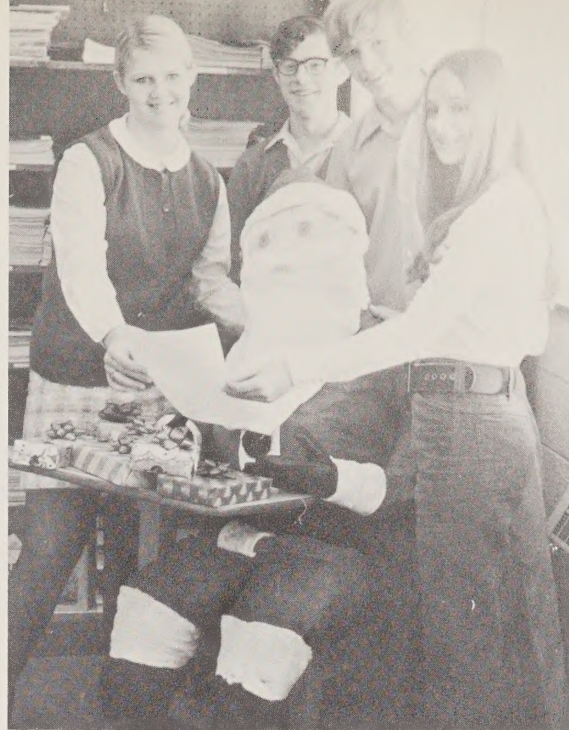

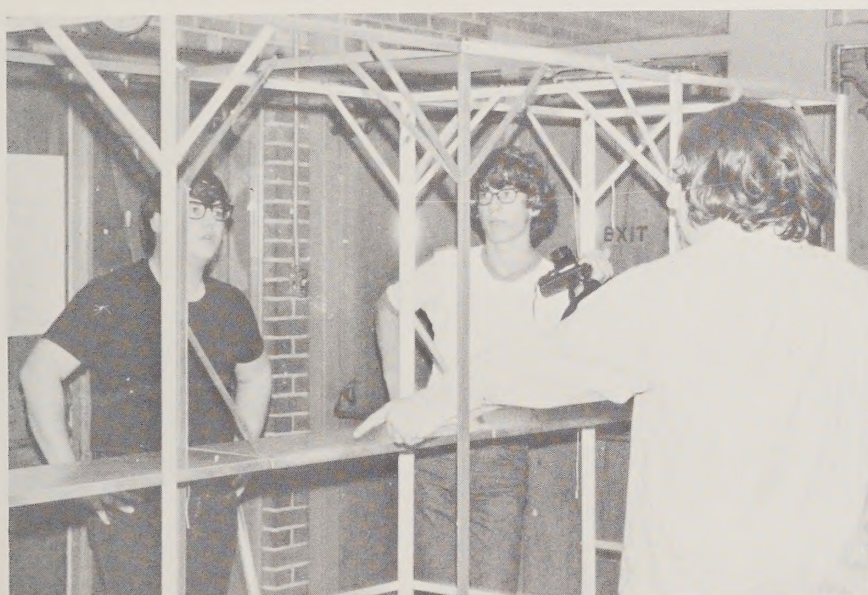

Will the real Harold Cranford please step forward!!

Merry Christmas??

Looking for something, Frances?

Homecoming

October 8, 1971

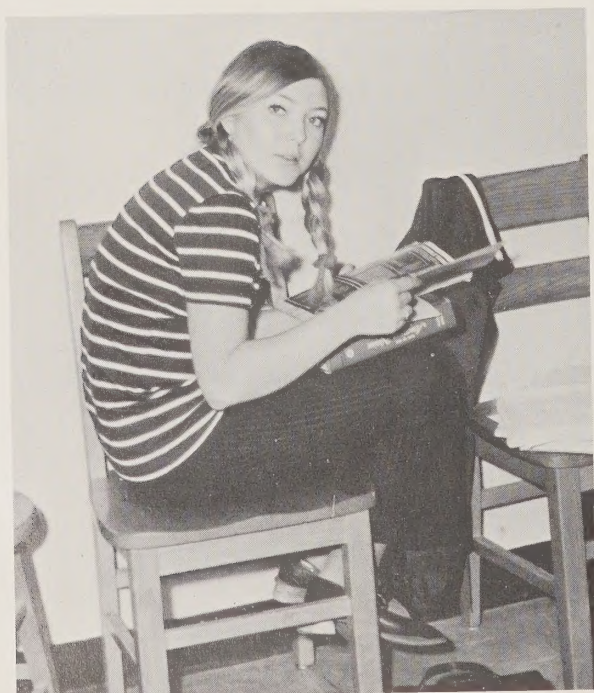

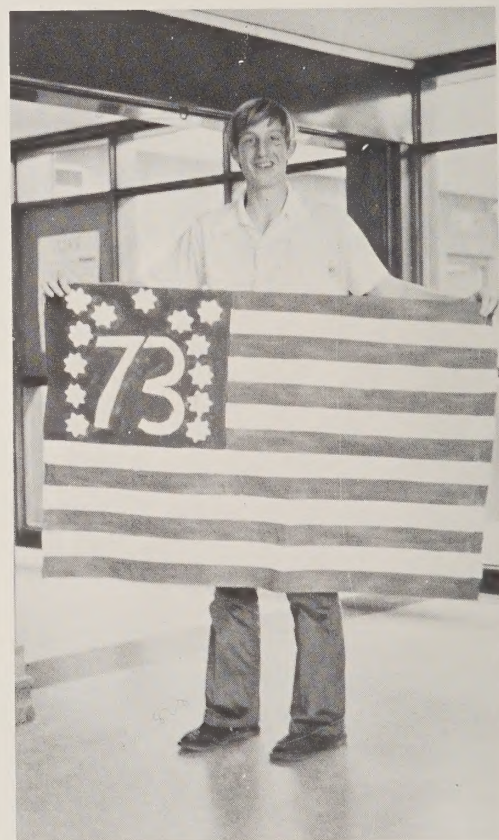

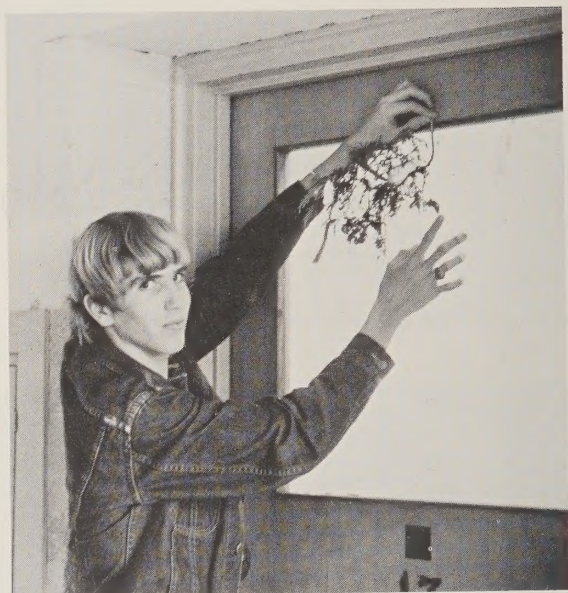

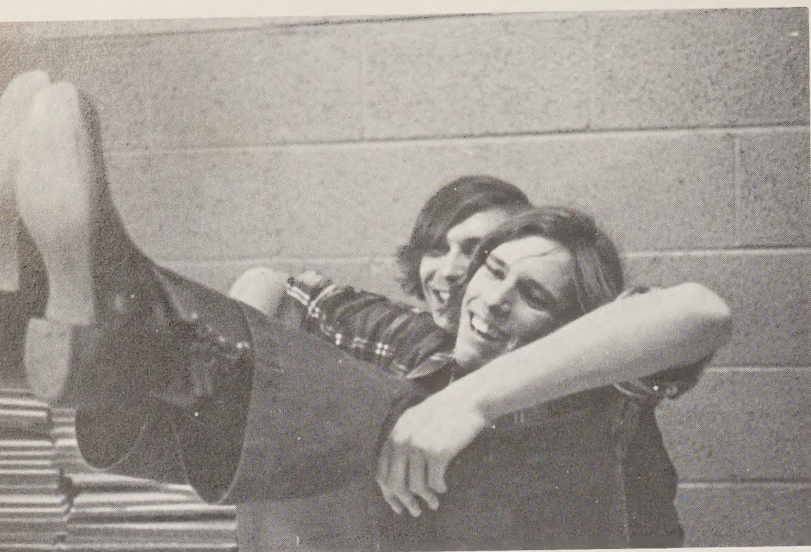

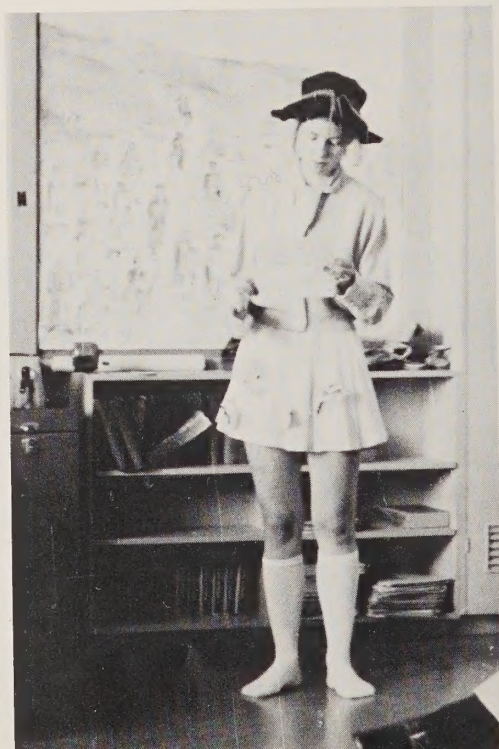

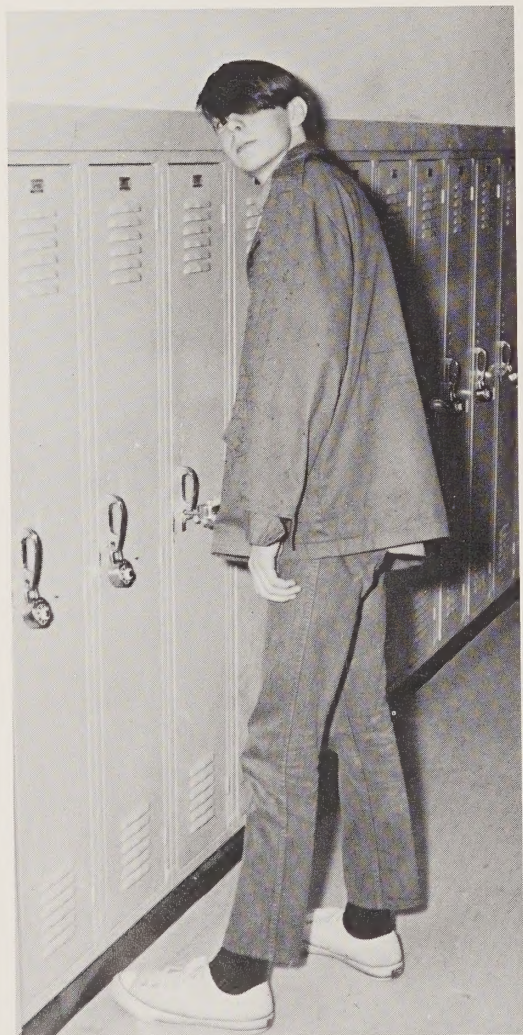

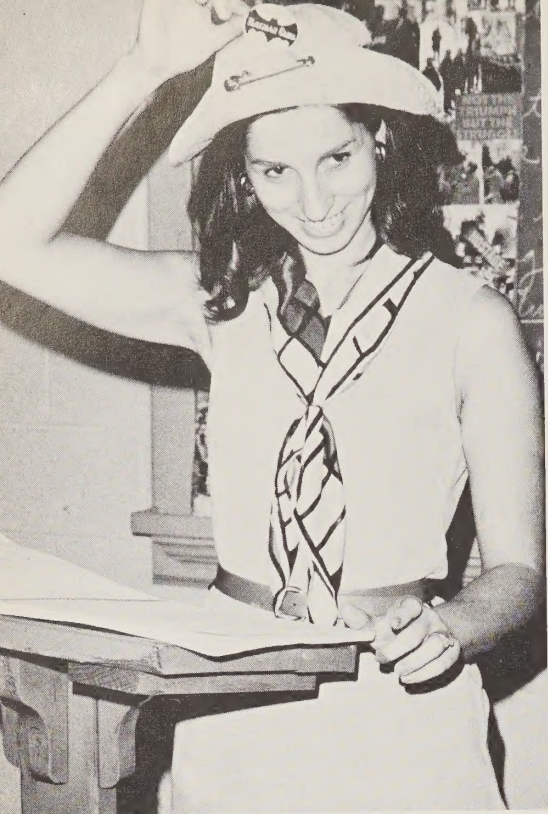

The week before Homecoming was filled with new and different ideas. The focal points of decoration were changed from a parade to the stadium and homerooms. The week continued with Lick'em Day, Tacky Day, Player Appreciation Day, Color Day, and Pots and Pans Day. Homecoming night arrived flowing with excitement and anticipation. As the band played softly, Londa was crowned our queen.

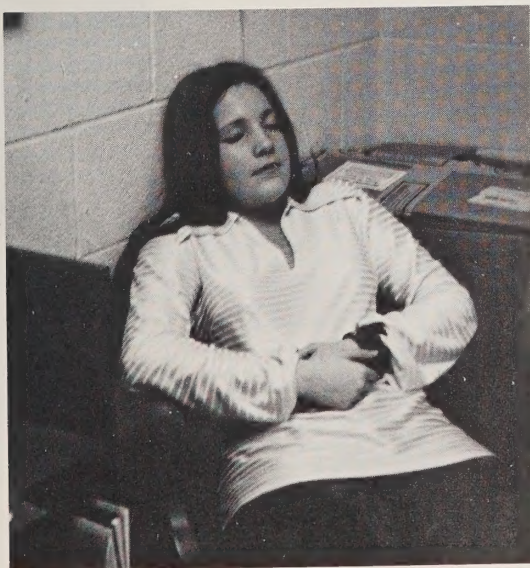

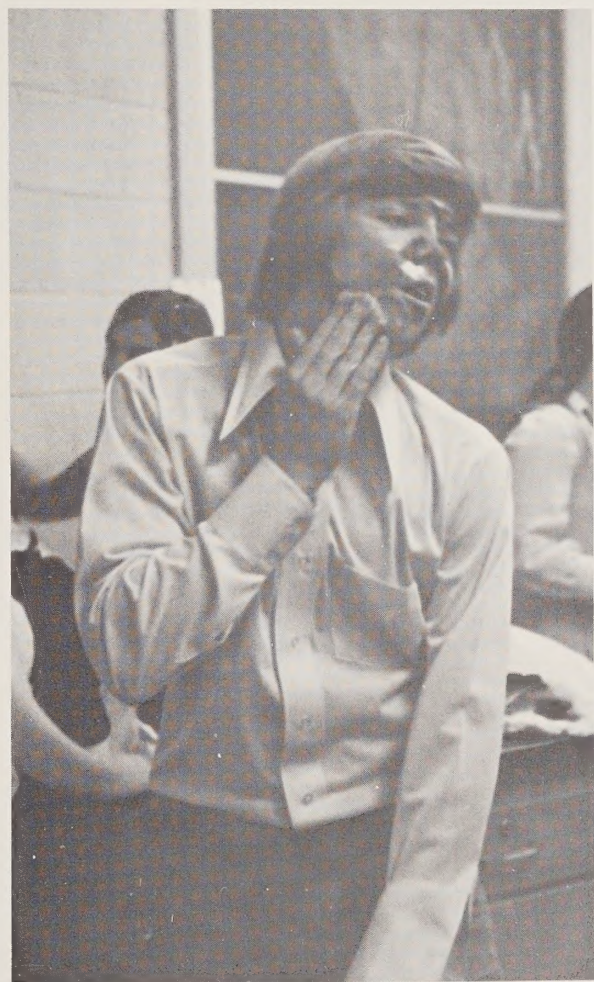

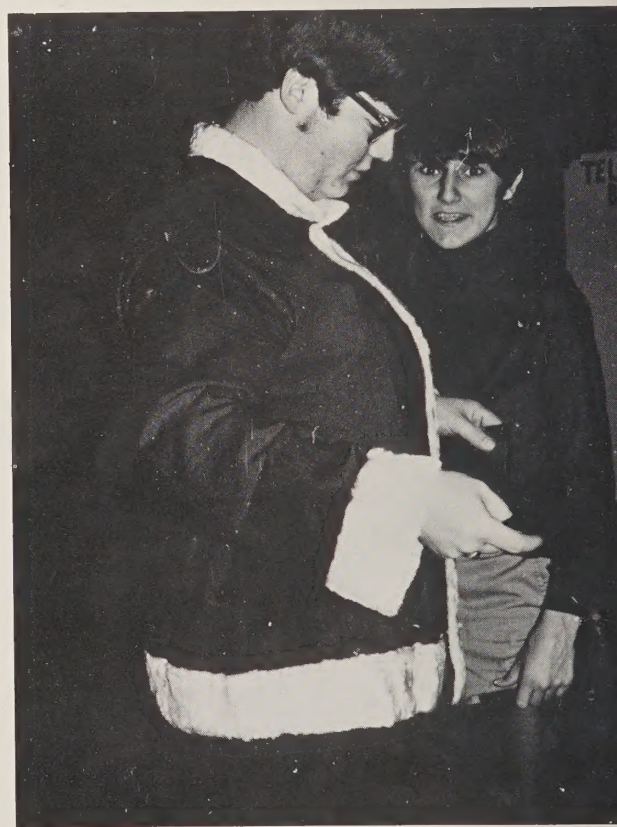

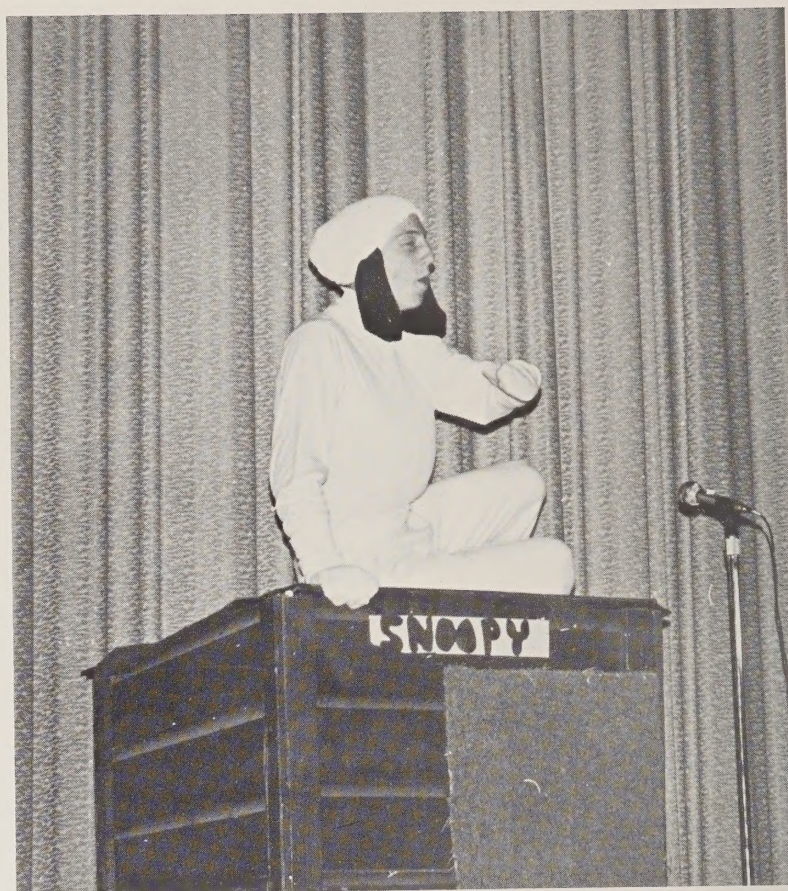

Assemblies this year, though few and far between, have provided both diversion and stimulation.

In September there were the usual separate assemblies with Mrs. Price and Coach England. These were held for the purpose of orienting sophomores and new students and re-orienting juniors and seniors to the rules of the school.

In October the students gathered in the auditorium for a pep rally-assembly combination. Numerous skits and cheers prepared the students for the Homecoming festivities and ball game. Also in October the American Field Service and the National Honor Society combined. Nancy Leonard, the AFS summer foreign exchange student, presented slides and told about her summer home. The last half of the assembly was devoted to the induction of new members into the Honor Society.

Reverend Billy Joe Leonard was a speaker for the Thanksgiving Assembly in November, which was sponsored by the Student Council. Another speaker came from the Goodwill Industries. Dwight Leonard and Norman Everhart, who represented the Youth Association for Retarded Children, ended the assembly with a presentation of songs.

Practically a whole morning in December was spent in the auditorium as three assemblies were combined into one. First the football coaches recognized and presented letters and stars to the members of the Yellow Jacket and Big Red football teams. Next on the agenda, Miss Lamberth and the Mixed Chorus presented a program of Christmas carols. The House of Representatives organized the last section of the assembly. Much time and effort went into this series of skits and quickies.

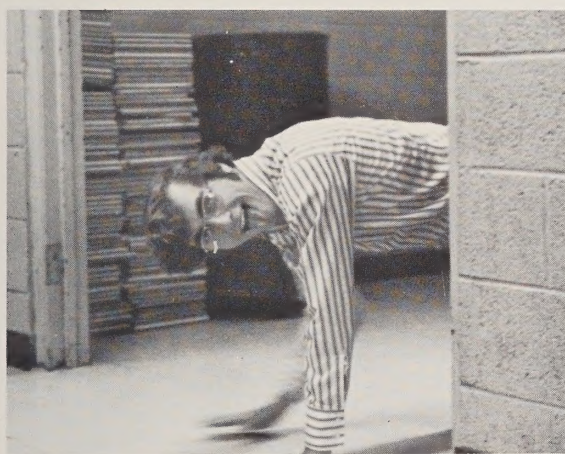

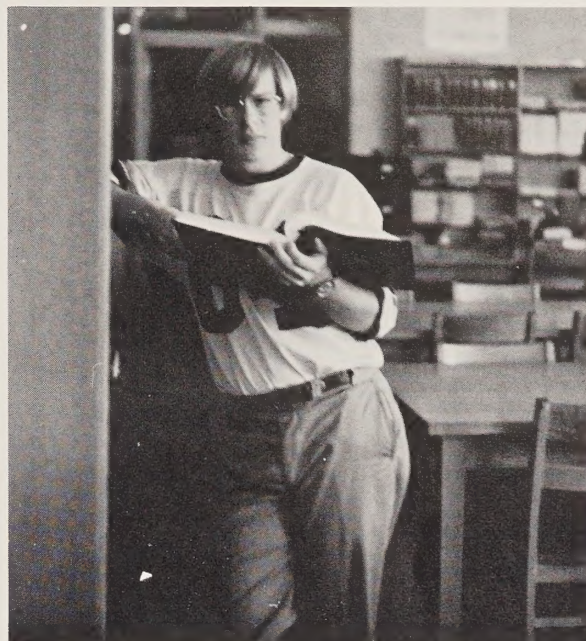

The Student Body was treated to an interesting and thought inspiring assembly in January which was sponsored by the Student Council. The speaker was Dudley Flood from the State Department of Education.

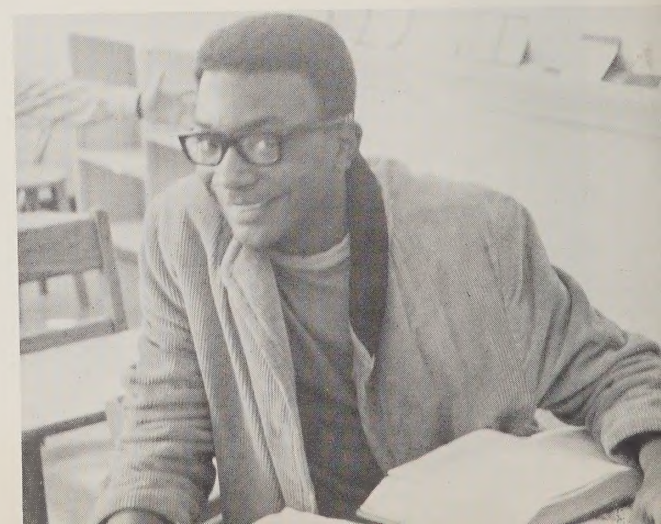

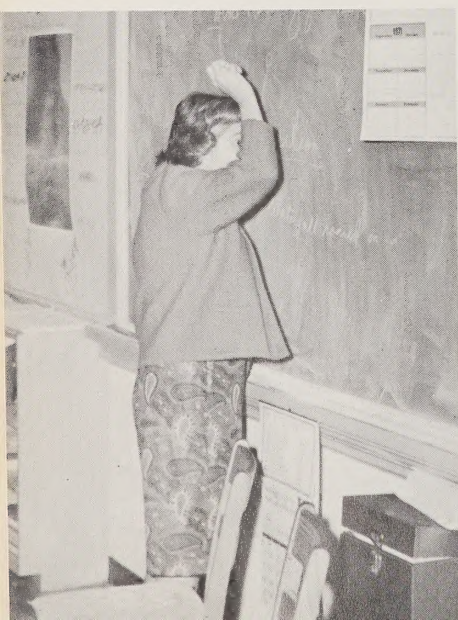

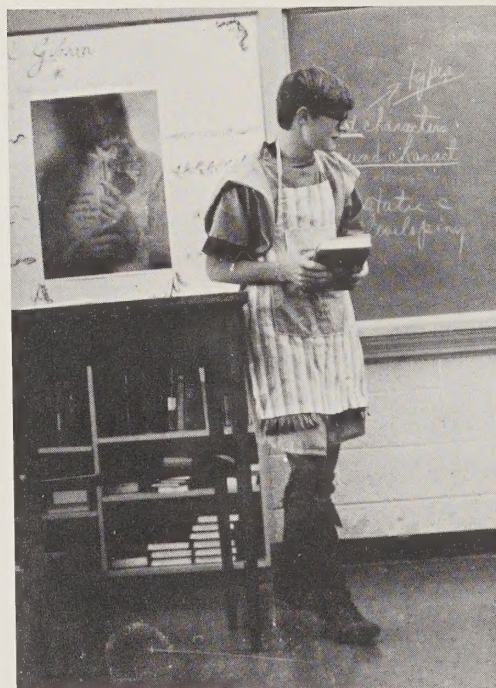

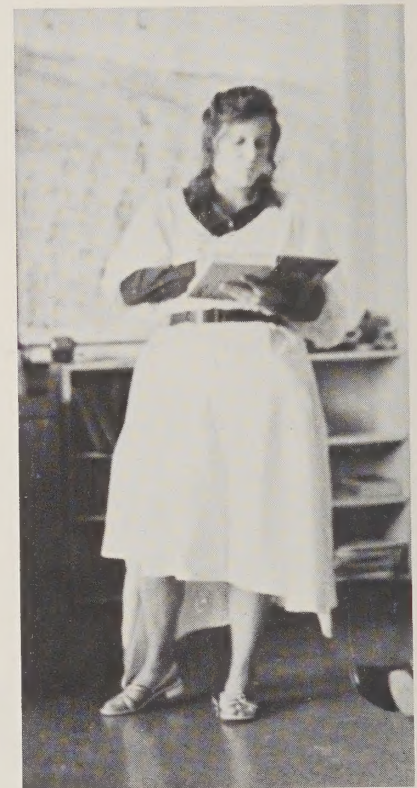

February brought a group composed of Lee Spears, Bit Holten, Larry Banks, and Ross West and also a group from the North Carolina School of the Arts.

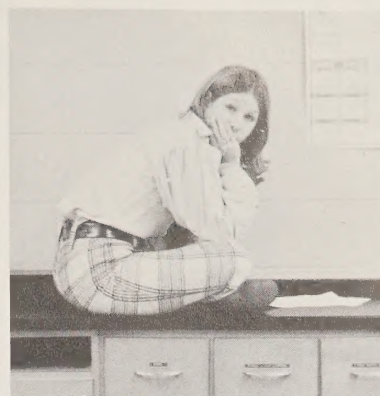

In March an assembly was planned for every week. "The Embers" presented the first assembly. They were followed by assemblies for Winter Sports, a Highway Safety Program, and the Literary Society.

Assemblies in April and May consisted of Suzy Jaramillo, our foreign exchange student from Ecuador, telling about her homeland, athletes receiving awards for spring sports, candidates presenting campaign speeches, new Student Council members being inducted, and the National Honor Society tapping in new members. And of course Senior Assembly climaxed and ended the assembly program for 1971-72.

House Of Representatives

Under the leadership of Len Brinkley, the House of Representatives strove to let every student know what was happening around him. Projects that the House undertook during the first semester were Homecoming week, College Night, the Christmas Assembly, and the collecting of goods for the Salvation Army. The Homecoming Week events were a change, to say the least; College Night was carried out once again with great success. The Christmas Assembly, however, was the most successful fall project of the House. It was entirely student oriented.

High IQ Bowl Team

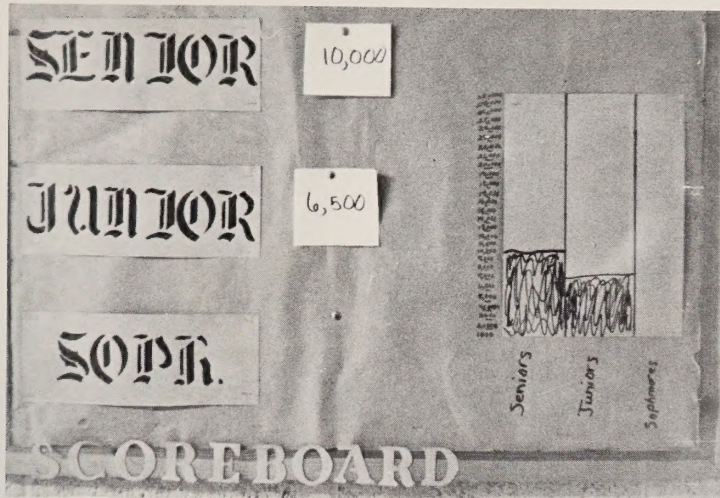

This year's High IQ team was finally selected after many hours of eliminations. Chosen from approximately fifty seniors were Bill Johnson—Captain, Bill Lowe, Susan Harman, Bill Davis, and Luellen Curry. Since only four members will participate, one alternate was chosen by the team. In the event that any member is sick, Bobbi Smith and/or Gage Croom will serve as substitutes.

The first round was held on February 12th at Elliot Hall on the campus of UNC—G. The contesting teams drew for their opponents and the questions were chosen from seven categories: English, Humanities, Math, Science, Social Studies, Geography, and Current Events.
